Nigel Mansell

Moscow-based Marussia Motors is the first Russian automobile company to manufacture premium-class cars. Their modular type cars feature unified platforms and changeable bodies and the Marussia B1 Sports Coupe welcomed guests at the entrance to this year's MYM party. The B1 is a stunning example of domestic hi-tech engineering, teamed with futuristic design and uncompromising performance courtesy of a partnership with UK-based Cosworth, whose lightweight and powerful mid-mounted V6 engine propels the B1 from 0-100km/h in 5 seconds.

Stefan Johansson's philosophy is simple: Passion. Integrity. Focus. It's what has driven his motor racing career and what now also drives the success of his watch brand. These limited edition, Swiss movement timepieces can be uniquely customized so that you can be sure what you're wearing is a one-of-a-kind, from the type of strap to the personalized engraving you choose.

And MYM would especially like to thank Stefan for generously donating a MARK VIII C 032 Chronograph to auction, the proceeds of which benefited the Prince Albert II of Monaco Foundation.

Spyker C8 Aileron

Quai Kennedy, Monaco

Spyker Cars, manufacturer of super premium sports cars since 2000, introduced MYM guests to the C8 Aileron and, for a lucky few, gave them the once-in-a-lifetime experience of a 'hot lap' around Monaco's famed circuit in between the race action on Saturday and Sunday. The C8

Aileron is hand-crafted and its design is heavily inspired by Spyker's aviation heritage. Powered by Audi's 4.2 liter V8, it makes 400 bhp, has a top speed of 187mph and a 0-60 of 4.5 seconds. But this fast car is beautiful too, all the while cossetting driver and passenger in sumptuous leather from Dutch Royal Tannery Hulshof and surrounding them with gleaming aluminum.
