MONACO GP ASTRONAUT DINNERS

Continuing its international series of Axiom Space Astronaut Dinners, My Yacht Group returned to Monaco to host a series of curated UHNW receptions & dinners over the F1 weekend.

4-time astronaut Cdr. Michael Lopez-Alegría will soon leave the planet for a 5th voyage as Commander of Ax-1, Axiom's historic first private astronaut mission to the International Space Station, scheduled for early 2022.

And, what better way to showcase the out-of-this-world visuals that aspiring private astronauts will experience, than on Samsung's The Wall, featuring hyper-real digital microLED panel display technology, that brings images to life on a bigger, bolder & brighter scale.

Perfectly positioned at the end of the start / finish straight, the exclusive Samsung Lounge, with expert technical support by BondTM, provided the ultimate indoor / outdoor vantage from which to experience the visual & aural spectacle of all the racing action. While the history, views, & track were as iconic as ever, the 78th Monaco GP was a little different than in years past.

With only 7,500 spectators in the stands, an 11pm curfew, & no parties - yacht or otherwise - allowed, the ambience was slightly muted.

On track, despite heartbreak over Monegasque Charles Leclerc clinching pole & then retiring before the start, the young guns - Verstappen, Sainz, & Norris - stood on the podium & celebrated in traditional fashion.

While May 2020 should have seen My Yacht® Group celebrating its 25th anniversary, this year of worldwide super-yacht hospitality at the twenty-eighth annual Monaco Formula 1 Grand Prix, the world's most glamorous race and the race every driver wants to win, took events onshore on the calendar for May 20-22, 2021. With so many sporting events being cancelled or run without spectators, the global pageant that runs around the rocky streets of the Principality will be a welcome return for both event organizers and attendees.

My Yacht's F1 race viewing and luxury hospitality experience is an extraordinary, unforgettable weekend of sport and socializing set among the sparkling lights of Monaco's Port Hercules. Discerning guests are welcomed aboard a private yacht moored in a prime moorings berth on the prestigious Quay Kennedy straightaway (think Red Bull Drive or 17 Mile Drive in terms of cachet). My Yacht's F1 race viewing and luxury hospitality experience is an extraordinary and unforgettable weekend of sport and socializing set among the sparkling lights of Monaco's Port Hercules.

Its annual Friday night charity reception and party has become one of the hottest events in town, traditionally welcoming an international who's who of the Grand Prix weekend that includes heads of state, royalty, F1 drivers, astronauts, Olympians, actors, models, and musicians. With a reputation for "connecting the world's most interesting people," My Yacht is renowned for bringing like-minded guests together at an exclusive event that is highly inclusive—leave your ego, along your shoes, on the quayside!

The racing action takes place on Thursday, Saturday and Sunday in cars jostle for position only a few feet away. With the circuit in use and closed to traffic, access to the yacht is by water only. What better way to arrive than aboard a private water tender, speeding past yachts at anchor, mooring at the views of Monaco and its surrounding mountains, and cruising through the harbor to arrive directly at your yacht?

Truly a bucket list experience, you'll connect with new friends, make a lifetime of memories, and ask, "When can we do this again?"

My Yacht at the 2021 Monaco F1 Grand Prix, May 20-22, 2021, is priced at €6,000 per person, and €12,000 per couple for all onboard hospitality and F1 race viewing. À la carte options are also available. Space aboard is limited, to ensure maximum comfort and exclusivity. All third-party services, including flights and accommodation, are extra.
