Thank you to Relentless Magazine for the cover article on Nicholas & Jennifer, & all things My Yacht. The magazine is distributed to top hotels & private clubs around London, Monaco, & the Côte d'Azur & will reach readers in the coming days.

Thank you to longtime partner Private Air Luxury Homes - widely distributed in the USA through all major FBOs - for the front row feature of our Monaco GP weekend. If you've ever wondered what it's like to experience "the race every driver wants to win", click below!

BEST SEATS IN THE HOUSE

For those who understand that Monaco is as much about where you watch as what you watch, My Yacht® Group's superyacht experience—long aligned with Private Air Magazine—offers a rare vantage point where access, atmosphere, and global connection converge.

Words By: Jessica Hall

Simply put, there is no other Grand Prix circuit like that of Monaco: the setting, the history, the yachts, and the people it attracts set it head and shoulders above the rest. It's not without its naysayers (the race is often boring; not enough room to overtake; the driver on pole position inevitably wins the race) and, thus, Monaco's longstanding fixture on the annual F1 calendar was seen to be in jeopardy. Until luxury brands juggernaut LVMH signed an unprecedented 10-year global partnership deal with F1 in October 2024... on the proviso that Monaco remain very much on the race roster.

Then, in its new dates at the beginning of June, the F1, media, celebrity, influencer, and socialite circus will descend upon the tiny Principality for the annual celebration of sun, sea and speed. While there are many vantage points from which to watch the action—grandstands, hotel suite, private terrace—some are clearly more luxurious and desirable than others and nothing says luxury quite like the multi-decked superyachts lined up directly next to the track. Because, let's face it, who doesn't want to lounge on a gleaming white yacht for the weekend, quaffing Whispering or Rock Angel rosé from large format
